

Nikolina Mileva has a MSc degree in Geographical Sciences from Utrecht University. Her interests are in the area of remote sensing and its applications for agriculture, nature conservation and climate change monitoring. Currently, Nikolina is an Internal Research Fellow at the European Space Agency where she is contributing to the development of a new generation of biodiversity observation products.