

Biography: Linda García is a surveyor engineer with a master's in geographic information systems (GIS). She has over 10 years of experience in land formalization with indigenous and local communities within the Colombian Government. Since 2017, she has been part of the Amazon Conservation Team (ACT) and currently serves as coordinator for their Land Processes initiatives in Colombia.